FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1883.

Another railroad bridge is going to be built, over the Mississippi, ten miles above the one at St. Louis.

The Evansville Courier has come out squarely for McDonald for President and will assist the Courier Journal in working up his boom.

The Pennsylvania Legislature has been in session nine months and has just defeated a resolution to adjourn Dec. 5.

Rev. George O. Barnes, the Kentucky evangelist, is now in Glasgow, Scotland, carrying on a meeting which has already resulted in 400 conversions.

Carlisle may not be elected Speaker of the next House, but one of his namesakes has just been elected keeper of the Hopkins county Poor House.

There is no city or town in Kentucky that is in a more prosperous condition than Hopkinsville. At her present rate of increase, the next census will find her with a population of 10,000, at the lowest estimate.

People might as well make up their minds to be afflicted with leap year jokes and campaign lies. They will begin to ripen in a few weeks and some of the earlier ones will do to pull by the first of January.

The Henderson Reporter is discussing the question as to which part of the city can boast of the prettiest girls. You can't draw lines in Hopkinsville. Wherever you find girls you find pretty ones.

The Park City Times is the last of our exchanges to discover a "widow woman." If it had been a "widow man" Gaines would have made money by capturing him and starting a side-show.

Jno. L. Sullivan, the champion pugilist of America, was knocked down by a negro in a Chicago saloon while he was trying him, last week. The darkey watched his chance, tripped and struck him at the same time and then took to his heels before Sullivan could get up.

The earnings of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, Co. for the first week in November were $927,210. If the L. & N. finds that its business will be seriously affected at this point by the Clarksville & Princeton road, it can with one week's earnings build a road intersecting it that will in a great measure upset the calculations of the projectors of the new line. The building of one road will insure the building of the other and, for our part, we want to see both of them built.

Frank Stark, who killed D. R. Allen, manager of the Jno. F. Ward comedy company, at Vicksburg, Miss., on the night of the 14th inst., is a Cincinnati dude about 22 years old. Stark had been acting as advance agent, but Allen had discharged him on the day of his murder. The shooting took place behind the curtains, before the show had begun, and was entirely unprovoked. Stark has retained a Cincinnati lawyer to defend him.

The three papers in the United States having the largest circulation are the Sun and Herald, of New York, and the Herald, of Boston. On the day following the election the Sun issued 172,749 copies, the Herald issued 138,500 and the Boston Herald 199,394. The latter's regular edition is smaller than the two first named, the interest in the Butler race causing its election issue to be largely increased.

Patrick William O'Brien, the Irish giant, and Christiana D. Dunn, the German giantess, were married in Pittsburgh, Tuesday. This was the first marriage of giants in America and the second in the world. The combined height of the bridal pair is 15 feet and three inches and they weigh 541 pounds. The wedding cake was the largest ever made, measuring nine feet in circumference and three feet in thickness. A giant loaf of bread five feet in length decorated the table at the wedding feast. The engagement ring weighed seventeen pennyweights and was five inches in circumference. The bridal couple held a public reception at Harris' museum.

The Semi-Weekly South Kentuckian besides being the cheapest paper in Kentucky is a Hopkinsville enterprise that the citizens ought to have enough home pride to sustain. There are a few prominent citizens who plead poverty when they are solicited to subscribe for their home paper and we have a proposition to make to them: if they will make affidavit that they are financially unable to pay $2.00 a year for a semi-weekly paper, worth double the money, we will send the South Kentuckian to them gratis. This is a plain business proposition and we mean it.

MORE LIGHT WANTED.

CASKY, Ky., Nov. 14th 1883.

ED. SOUTH KENTUCKIAN:

In your issue of the 9th inst., I find an article headed "Grangers vs. Warehousemen—All of their tobacco to go to the Louisville market." You state that there are two flourishing Granges in Christian county, giving location, number and character of membership. You state that for the past five years it has been their custom to concentrate their tobacco patronage to one warehouse, and thereby secure a rebate, giving the names of the warehousemen with whom said arrangements were made and detailed statements as to the manner, terms and results, claiming that for the year 1882 alone these grangers thus saved the sum of $1,203 (a snug little sum it is too; more perhaps than the net proceeds of any single crop sold by the Grange). Then you give account of a meeting of the board of trade; its object and decision, stating their grounds for such action. You then inform us that when the action of said board was made known to the Grangers, they "at once rose up in arms so to speak, and declared they would not pay full rates, making formal demand which was promptly declined. The Granges then opened correspondence with Louisville securing rebate, etc." You also venture to name the number of hogheads that will probably go, putting it 100 below the minimum for the past five years, according to your own figures. You have evidently gathered something of the affair and claimed to have gathered it from Grangers, and express regret that so much tobacco will be sent away from "our home market" yet it is not your province to take sides in this matter, you merely submit a plain statement of facts and leave readers to form conclusions of right and wrong.

Now, Mr. Neutral, we hope you think you are neutral, say you don't take sides "for a state fact." Then why did you fail to give us the obligation entered into by the Board of Trade? (I don't know which) of this curious formed mysterious board, have taken an oath not to patronize, or in other words attend the sales or make purchases of any house that may see proper to make such terms with Grangers as have heretofore been made.

This, sir, you may have overlooked, but I consider it a very important fact in the case; for that shows the farmer whether he is a Granger or not, just where he stands. I would like to ask you why you put the Louisville consignment so low? Did you get that from a Granger? I would rather suspect you were deceived and got it from a Warehouseman. Beware! Again I would like to know what business the Warehousemen have in this Board of Trade, as it now exists? Who is he? Who made him? and what is his office? God made farmers, but farmers make Warehousemen and if I am not mistaken his office is to receive and further consign, or hold in store, or offer and sell (when ordered) to the highest bidder any and all produce, in whatever line he proposes to handle, that may be delivered to his care by the farmer; to preserve and protect said produce, present fair samples, sell, collect proceeds and pay over to producer or consignee, on demand, in consideration of which service said producer or consignee is to pay such amount as is publicly set forth or privately agreed upon. Am I right? If so then what right has he to enter into a league with the buyer and not consult the farmer? Has the farmer no interest at stake? The farmer has hitherto plodded his way without any organization to protect or further his interest, living by dint of hard labor and strict economy; honest and unsuspecting, he has been gradually made a heaver of wood and drawer of water for all other professions. No wonder the youths are all deserting the old ship that has landed so many of our fathers on the sunny side of prosperity and developed our country into such grand proportions! She still retains her capacity if untrammelled. The wise man said "There is a time for every thing under the sun." We believe it and the time has come to hoist the banner of agriculture, it has trailed in the dust long enough. This the Grange proposes to do.

You say you have talked with grangers and they claim to be working for a principle and not simply for a rebate; you are correctly informed. Their motto is Labor for the good of our order, our country and mankind. "In essentials, unity; in non-essentials, liberty; in all things, charity." We labor to develop a higher manhood and womanhood among ourselves, to enhance the comforts and attractions of our homes, and strengthen our attachments to our pursuits; to foster mutual understanding and co-operation, to buy less and produce more in order to make our farms self-sustaining.

They propose to meet together, talk together, work together, sell together, buy together, act together in general for mutual protection and advancement, as occasion may require. Live and let live! They propose to coerce or compel no one; but as you stated combine and solicit terms and make arrangements accordingly, using their own judgment in the premises. Who can object to this? "Certainly no unbiased man can!" As to regrets, there is not a member of the entire fraternity but regrets the situation and would prefer to patronize the Hopkinsville market, provided we, like you, could call it "our home market;" but this we cannot do. Do you not see the combination? What is it to the buyer if Warehousemen choose to work for bread and water, so they can buy tobacco at market value?

Warehousemen predict that Grangers will lose money, having to pay freight to L. and have strangers to open and sell tobacco. Now, sir, I have great respect for some of the Warehousemen at L.; but far be it from me to think there are no honest men elsewhere or that Dr. Rodman has all the mental cranks caught yet!

I would like to know if the farmer don't pay freight even if he sells at his own barn? for it is not consumed here, but who ever buys has to ship or sell to some one that will and he deducts freight and the farmer pays it by taking a less price.

I predict that somebody else will get tired of this too; and I hereby tender you thanks for opening up the subject; it needs ventilation, so farmers may see where they stand.

Why should Warehousemen and buyers kick at Grangers petitioning terms for large amounts of tobacco consigned to one house? when it has been and is still the custom of all Warehousemen to pay men large salaries to ride over the country and drum for their houses and even furnish money to men to buy tobacco to be shipped to one house? Had they not just as well give this to the Grange or farmer? Agents work for a stipulated price and for the man that pays most, now where is the difference?

Once more, Warehousemen have given and do still show favors to large planters and dealers, whilst the poor man or small farmer, who has but little to sell, needs all it will bring and all of the favor he can get stands no show, but has to bear all they choose to put on, no rebate, no court-favors with him. Now, on the other hand, if he only raises one hoghead of tobacco and he is a member of the Grange he receives equal advantages with the wealthiest member in the fraternity in proportion to what he has.

I predict that the action of the "Hopkinsville Board of Trade" will make more and better Grangers; rather than cripple and destroy the order.

Respectfully,
A PATRON.

Maud S.'s wonderful trotting record of 2:10 1/4 has been beaten, if the press reports of a score at New York are to be taken as reliable. Frank, a horse owned by John Murphy, and Winship, owned by James Golden, were matched for a purse of $2,000 at the 10th inst. The mile heat resulted in the unprecedented score of 2:08 1/2 for Frank and 2:10 1/4 for Winship, the former beating and the latter tying the record of Maud S., made at Rochester, N. Y. Aug. 11, 1881. It was further claimed that this was done on an imperfect track and that Frank can, on a smoother track, reduce his time several seconds.

Robt. McClelland, of Chicago, by his will bequeathed his entire fortune of $60,000 to his mother-in-law, Mrs. Orpha M. Dougherty. His brother and two nieces want the will set aside, alleging that he was not in his right mind. The question will now come up; will leaving a fortune to a mother-in-law be taken as evidence of an unsound mind?

Little Billy Mahone is out in a lengthy circular explaining why his party was defeated in Virginia. He says it was caused by a "reign of terror" being inaugurated by the Democrats. The general impression yet prevails that he was defeated because he lacked about 30,000 votes.

The Oregon Legislature has stricken the word "male" from the election laws and the women can now vote, get drunk and fight like the men on election days.

The women can now vote in Oregon and no candidate need hope to receive their ballots until he has taken a satisfactory position on bangs and bustles.

It is the style now for clocks to have the hours numbered from 1 to 24. The young man who calls on his girl must not stay later than 24 o'clock.

A man at Batesville, Miss., butted a circular saw the other day. The saw was not injured.

Jonathan Haskell, a cranky evangelist who was a reformed circus clown, died in Louisville Monday, in abject poverty.

The body of Gip Clay, who was murdered by Sam Johnson, on a steamer at Frankfort, two weeks ago, has been recovered.

The Doctor's Mistake.

One of the old mistakes of the profession was to think that there were no other ways of curing disease except those which had been handed down from former times.

It is not to be denied that the Doctors have done great things for the world. But when it comes right down to the real curing of disease it must be admitted that Brown's Iron Bitters has done enough to earn the generous gratitude of this whole present generation, including the medical profession. There are no mysteries or secrets about the compounding of Brown's Iron Bitters. This preparation of iron is in the purest form and will not in any way hurt the stomach. In this it is beyond comparison better than the other preparations, which are mischievous and injurious.

You need not fear a mistake in trying Brown's Iron Bitters. You are trying it. It gives vigor to the feeble, and new life to the dyspeptic. Children take it, not only with safety, but with great advantage.

A DESPERATE CONFLICT.

Jeff J. Garrett, of New Providence, Tenn., Kills a Burglar and is Himself Seriously Shot.

On last Monday night, about 10 o'clock, an attempt was made to burglarize the house of J. J. Garrett, a prominent and wealthy citizen of New Providence, Tenn., who is a brother of Mrs. Rust of this city. Two burglars broke in a window with a fence rail and the crash awoke Mr. Garrett. He stepped into a hall adjoining to get his gun and as he returned he saw a man getting in at the window. He fired both barrels at him and he fell out of the window dead. In the interval of Mr. Garrett's absence from the room, another burglar had entered the room and was squatting down by the bed, and as the former shot the man in the window the second burglar fired upon him with a 22-calibre pistol, shooting him through the lung. The wounded man then clinched with the robber and a desperate struggle ensued, in which the gun was broken off the stock. Mr. Garrett finally choked the burglar until he was insensible and faint and bleeding, threw him from the window. His wife then went to the house of a neighbor, half-a-mile away, for assistance, after looking her wounded husband in the house. When she returned with help, one burglar was found dead under the window, but the other had come to his senses and was gone. Officers scoured the country in search of him, but without success. Several tramps were arrested on suspicion and put in jail, but there was no evidence that the right man was caught.

The dead burglar was about 5 feet 8 inches in height, well built, weighed about 150 pounds, high forehead, black hair, dark mustache and between 30 and 40 years of age. He had a long scar just at the root of the hair running from the middle of the forehead to the left, a small scar under the chin and an old pistol wound below the left knee. He was recognized as a man who had registered at the Franklin House as "Samuel Patterson, Louisville, Ky." This was probably not his name as the burglar on the inside called lustily for "Frank" during the struggle. On the dead man's body was found $3.50, a kit of burglar's tools and a late Cincinnati Enquirer. From the description given of him he is the same man who was circulating here last Saturday. He was a genteel looking tramp, who claimed to be a painter and it is said he lived here under an assumed name, as a painter, for a short while, some years ago. He fell in with a couple of umbrella menders here Saturday and the whole party left together Sunday. The remains were buried by Montgomery county Wednesday.

Mr. Garrett's wound is a painful one, but will not prove fatal. He is getting along pretty well and is considered out of danger, at this writing.

HERE AND THERE.

W. F. Patton, Life Insurance.

A. D. Rodgers, Fire Insurance.

Nashville street is being cleared of the sewer rubbish very slowly.

The Cornet Band will have a benefit at the Rink Wednesday night.

Sergt. Bates will deliver a free lecture to-morrow night, in this city.

The Episcopal ladies made $75 out of their concert last Friday evening.

The "Strictly Business" entertainment on the 29th will be one of the very best of the season.

Attention is called to the advertisement of a farm for sale by Mr. P. E. Bacon, in this issue.

The pavement between Main street and the post office, on Bridge street, is almost impassable in wet weather. Whose fault is it that it is so out of repair?

A half-column obituary has been sent us for publication. We cannot publish obituaries of more than ten lines free. Our rates are five cents per line for all over ten lines.

A very correct likeness of Mr. Jno. C. Day can now be seen at Gish & Garner's drug store. The portrait was drawn by his wife, who had been taking drawing lessons for only one week. Her work certainly speaks highly of her aptness and talent as an artist and of the skill of the teacher, Miss Tyler.

It would be a good idea for people to sleep with their firearms within reach. Our exchanges all over the State are filled with accounts of bold burglaries and Hopkinsville is liable to have experience in the same line. Keep your pistols handy and "if any man dares to haul up your window, shoot him on the spot."

Russellville street, east of the railroad, is being dug down several feet and the pike made lower. We understand that a portion of the expense will be borne by the citizens on the south side of the street and that the Board of Councilmen have appropriated $1,000 of the city's money. Our usually careful Board of Councilmen is being sharply criticised by some of the tax-payers, for their action in the matter.

The Honor Roll of the pupils attending Perry's Academy, Fairview, Ky., for the month ending Nov. 16th 1883. Maximum, 100, minimum, 95. Edgar Elgin, 98; Thos. A. Hord, 98; Robert Johnson, 97 1-2; Tommie Baber, 97; Mollie Elgin, 96 4-5; Ross Elgin, 96 3-5; Willie Vaughn, 96 3-5; Ethel Duke, 95 4-5; Lewis Elgin, 95 2-5; Richie Perry, 95 1-5; George Sims, 95.

W. WALTER BELL, Teacher.

We publish another chapter on the Grange matter to-day. Our correspondent asks us, in rather dogmatic terms, why we estimated the number of hogheads that would go to Louisville at 400, and why we did not mention an obligation of the Board of Trade. In reply to the first we will state that we named the above figures because the crop is a short one and because we believe that some of the Grange tobacco will, from both personal and other considerations, be sold in Hopkinsville. This estimate was concurred in by one of the most prominent Grangers in the county, before it appeared in the paper, and we still think it was not an unfair one. Further, the Board of Trade did not enter into an obligation, but merely repealed a by-law passed expressly to apply to the Grange tobacco, at the request of the warehousemen. We can scarcely understand the warning of "Be-ware!" in "A Patron's" article. Our course has been and will be open, fair and neutral in the matter and we are conscious of having done nothing to incur the censure of either side. As a disseminator of the news, the South Kentuckian could not, in justice to its readers, let so important a matter pass unnoticed.

We believe a free discussion is desired by both sides, and our columns are open to both Grangers and warehousemen.

Sergeant Bates.

Sergt. G. H. Bates, who is traveling over the country lecturing "for the promotion of patriotic citizenship and national good-will," informs us by letter that he will deliver free addresses at the following times and places:

Petersburg, Friday evening, November 23.

Hopkinsville, Saturday evening, November 24.

Pembroke, Sunday evening, November 25.

Trenton, Monday evening, November 26.

He has delivered over 1800 free lectures in the northern states within the last seven years. His son, Master Bates, aged 14 years, who is carrying the flag from Chicago to Savannah, will also address the public at each meeting.

Miss Lizzie Booker, of Louisville, predicted that she would die in twenty-four hours and after visiting a number of friends and making preparations for her burial, she went to bed and died as she foretold, at 10 o'clock last Sunday.

Prof. Juan Zamora, an aeronaut, descended into the Ohio river at Owensboro and was reached by rescuers in a skiff as he was sinking the second time.

The new May Hotel, at Elizabethtown, burned Sunday night and many of the guests narrowly escaped with their lives. A grocery store under it and a dwelling adjoining were also burned. Loss $45,000, insurance $20,000. It was the work of an incendiary. Chas. Reno, an engineer on the C. & O. road, was fatally injured by a falling wall.

A $1,000 monument for Judge Jno. M. Elliott, who was slain by Tom Buford, is to be erected in the Frankfort cemetery. It will be of Italian marble, 22 feet high, and on one side will be a medallion of the murdered Judge, which is pronounced a perfect likeness. The money was appropriated by the last Legislature.

A man in a sleeping-car on an Eastern railroad kept people awake two hours by propounding, about bed time, the query: "What is the best thing to brush a hat with?" And the whole crowd stayed awake and guessed, and one man who came to his station, and had to get off without hearing the answer, felt awfully. And, finally, after they had all given it up, the questioner thought the best thing to brush a hat with was a hat brush. And it was painful to witness the disgust of the crowd.

The best coal mine in Iowa was discovered by a man who was fishing on Sunday, but it was on another man's land and all the discoverer got was a ducking.

SAW HIM GO TO HELL.
Thirty Men Make Oath in Court of What They Witnessed at Stromboli.

To those whose minds are troubled with doubt as to whether or not there is a hell, the following from the British Naval Chronicle, 1807, may not be uninteresting:
An abstract from the journal of the ship Sphinx, in the year 1686, up the straits:

May 12—When we arrived at Manson we found three ships lying there from London, commanded by the Captains British, Brown and Burnaby, all going to Lipari to load.

May 13—These three ships sailed in company with the Sphinx (wind northwest) to Lipari where they anchored in twelve fathoms water (wind south, southwest).

May 14—The four captains and a Mr. Bell, a merchant, went on shore on the island of Mount Stromboli to shoot rabbits. About three o'clock they called their men together to go on board their respective ships, when to their inexpressible astonishment they saw the appearance of two men coming very swiftly through the air toward them; one of them appeared to be dressed in black and the other in gray clothes; they passed close by with the greatest rapidity, and, to their extreme consternation, descended, amid the burning flames, into the mouth of that dreadful volcano, Mt.
Stromboli. At their entrance there issued tremendous noises, the flames rushed most terribly, and Captain Burnaby cried out: Lord bless me! the foremost of the two, in black clothes, is old Mr. Booty, my next door neighbor at Wapping; but I do not know the other. He then desired them all to write down in their pocket-books, or note it on something, what they had then seen, which was immediately done by the three captains and Mr. Bell, and likewise entered in the different ships' journals at the same time.

When these four ships had taken in their lardings at Lipari they sailed together for London. When they arrived in the river Thames, at the Gravesend, Captain Burnaby's wife came from London to meet him. He then sent for the three other captains to come on board his ship to congratulate him on his wife's arrival. After they had thus met a little conversation passed between them in the cabin when Mrs. Burnaby suddenly started from her chair and said to her husband, "My dear, I'll tell you some news, old Mr. Booty is dead."

He directly answered, "We saw him go to hell, and told her what they had seen, as before related, to her serious alarm."

When Mrs. Burnaby had returned to London she went to an acquaintance and related this serious event that her husband had seen the soul of Booty go into hell the 14th of May last. This gentle woman then mentioned the same to Mrs. Booty, the widow of the deceased, who immediately took a writ out of the King's bench court in the penal sum of $5,000 damage and arrested Captain Burnaby for defamation upon her late husband's soul. Captain Burnaby gave bond to stand trial, and he then took out of the court of the king's bench, in Westminster Hall, summoned for all the people that had attended the late Mr. Booty in his last sickness and at the time of his death; also the sexton of the parish, who buried him, and the clothes he last wore before his sickness he had taken care to be introduced in court the day of trial.

When the trial came on the different persons, with the black clothes, were brought into court, and were met by Captain Burnaby, and the captains of the other three ships, and the men of the four boats, with Mr.
Bell, who were all on the said island of Stromboli, and saw the two apparitions descend into the burning flames the aforesaid 14th day of May. Ten of the men of the boats made oath that the buttons on the coat which the apparition had on were like the one present, being moulds covered with black cloth, the same sort that the coat was made of. The different persons who were with Mr.
Booty at the time of his decease made oath that his death happened at 12 o'clock noon the 14th of May last, which was in the year 1686. The jury then asked the Captain of the Sphinx if he knew Mr. Booty in his lifetime. He answered that he never saw him in his lifetime, but plainly observed the dress the apparition had on, which Mr. Burnaby said was Mr. Booty, in company with another unknown.

The judge then spoke: The Lord grant that I may never see such a sight as that, for I think it impossible for thirty men to be mistaken.

The jury then gave their verdict against the Widow Booty, plaintiff to pay cost of the court. The foregoing are facts, extracted from the journal of the ship Sphinx's voyage up the straits in the year 1686.

The above trial is now to be seen on the record of the court of the king's bench in the Westminster Hall —Mrs. Booty, plaintiff, against Captain Burnaby defendant.

These records are written on parchment in Latin, in the lawyer's old text handwriting, and are kept in a glass case in the clerk's office, where, for the sum of one shilling, they may be seen by all whose doubt or curiosity may induce them to it.

Lincoln's Remains Removed.
SPRINGFIELD, ILL., Nov. 15.—Scores of people daily visit the tomb of Abraham Lincoln, in this city. An attendant points out the marble sarcophagus as containing the coffin of the martyr President. Every decoration day it is strewn with fresh floral offerings by ladies. The fact was developed yesterday that the sarcophagus is empty.

Where the remains were removed is not known to the public. A few years ago, as will be remembered, thieves attempted to steal the body.
They were scared off, but left the coffin partly drawn out of the sarcophagus, but its contents were undisturbed. It is supposed that shortly afterwards it was determined to remove the remains.

THE GENIUS OF KRUPP.
Alfred Krupp, the owner and creator of the largest gun foundry in the world, seems to be a greater hero in war-loving Germany than the Chancellor himself.
Krupp was born at Essen on April 11, 1811, and, as his father was a gun-maker, the boy made toys of firearms.
The lad's genius outstripped all precedent, and, more than keeping pace with modern invention, he devised implements of death which have terrorized soldiers of nearly every nation.

This Columbia College paper, called the Acta Columbiana, described one of the editors of the Yale Courant as lying with one ear folded under his head as a pillow, while with the other he waved off the flies from the ceiling. Thereupon the editors of all the Yale papers, the Courant, Record and Lit, solemnly announce that the Acta Columbiana is out of town on exchange.

EMPTY ARMS.

Sold's blessing on the soldier's arms
That hold their labor duty,
And bear the burdens of the hour
With cheerfulness and beauty!
All honor to the willing arms
That lift the poor and lowly,
And teach us by their business
A lesson pure and holy!

And rapture for the glowing arms
That clasp with loving tenderness
A world of joy and sweetness
In beautiful completeness!
And rest unto the weary arms
That after pluing sadness
Twine round our dear returning ones,
And thrill again with gladness!

But sorrow for the longing arms
Where hopes, like birds, have nested;
God's pity for the empty arms
Where darling ones have rested.
—George Cooper.

CORNSTALKS AS FUEL.

An Iowa farmer, who has both coal and wood on his farm, warns his household with cornstalks, and claims that they make the best and cheapest fuel he can get. He uses a large stove, and burns the stalks in tightly-bound bundles, weighing about forty pounds each. A bundle burns three hours (without flame) in an air-tight stove. The large stove offers so much radiating surface that it does not need to be very hot.
Five bundles a day, or 600 for the winter, suffice to keep the stove going and the room warm. The farmer, Mr. Ruggles, says: "I can bind up six hundred bundles of cornstalks in two days alone.
I couldn't chop the wood to burn this room in a week. Then in the spring I have a load of strong ashes for my wheat-field, while my neighbors have to cut up the same cornstalks to get them out of the way. It makes me smile when I hear about those idiots up in Minnesota who have fifty-acre cornfields, and still go cold or buy coal.
Why, I'd rather burn cornstalks than cut maple wood within sight of the house."

AVERAGING MEN.

"What I was going to remark," said Brother Gardner, of the Line Kilt Club,
"was to say to you that de pusson wh'os expects to enjoy dis life mus' make up his mind to strike de world on de general average. He who neglects to do so will meet wid daily sorrows and disappointments. Doan' expect dat de man who happens to agree wid you on de weather an' sartin to agree wid you on politics.
It doan' foller dat de man who agrees wid you on politics will feel bound to accept your kind of religion. De fact dat you lend your naybar your shovel doan' bind him to lend you his wheel-barrow. He who looks for honesty whar he finds gray hairs will be as sadly disappointed as he who argues dat an old coat am de sign of a thief or a beggar.
Put faith in human nature, and yet be ever ready to doubt."

"I expect to meet about so many mean men in de course of a yar."
"I expect de summer will be hot an'
de winter cold."

"I expect to have chilblains in December an' shakes of de ager in April."
"I expect dat a sartin per cent. of dis world's populashun will lie to me, steal my cabbages, frow stones at my dog an' hit me wid a brickbat as I go home from de lodge."

"On de odder hand, when I come to strike de average, I kin put my hand on men who will lend me money on my bond, speak well of me an' sot up all night to protec' me."

"No man am perfect. He may strike you at first sight as verry good or verry bad, but doan' decide until you average him. He may beat a street kyar company, an' yet be honest wid a butcher.
He may crawl under de canvas to see a circus, an' yet pay his pew rent in advance. He may lie to you as to how he woted, an' yet tell de truf about a spavined hoss. He may cuss on de street, and yet be a tender father at home. He may encourage a dog fight, an' yet walk a mile to restore a los' chile to its parents."

"Accept no man fur his fine talk—reject no man fur his old clothes; stand him out in de sunlight an' average him.
You will be sartin to fin' sunthin' bad about him, but you will also be sartin to fin' sunthin' good."
